Family Mediation Overview

Family Mediation offers an alternative to conflict when families experience difficulties in relationships, particularly during or after separation and divorce. By managing conflict and offering an independent, privileged, and impartial process, it empowers (ex) partners to negotiate solutions which meet the needs of their family, especially those of their children. Mediation addresses the parenting issues which result from couple relationship breakdown and incorporates the views of children by indirect and direct consultation. Understandings reached together are written down to form a useful working document (Mediated Agreement) - the basis for future problem solving. It reduces both the emotional and financial cost of separation and divorce.

Ethos of the Training Programme

Throughout the delivery of the Foundation Training Programme there is a strong emphasis on the fundamental underpinning principles of family mediation i.e. respect for the views and feelings of the participants, respect for the interests of the children and others involved, respect for an equitable outcome, respect for the values of equal opportunity regardless of race, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, age or disability and above all respect for the authority of the participants to make their own decision.

Course Validation

Our programme is approved by the College of Mediators (one of the lead bodies of the Family Mediation Council, UK) for both generic and specialist family mediation. The Mediators' Institute of Ireland has approved our course in the past and we are currently seeking renewal for both generic mediation training and their requirements for those seeking to offer separating couples mediation.

COST The cost of the Foundation Training Programme is £2000 per person which includes assessment, training materials and catering. (course fees by instalment by agreement)

We have not increased our charge and therefore we require a minimum of 10 participants who meet the entry criteria to make delivery feasible for the Charity to deliver.

Course Hours: 72 hours direct+ 20 hours minimum self-study including pre-course reading, completion of a Learning Journal and a drafting assignment (a Mediated Agreement).

Successful completion of the course requires full attendance and participation throughout.

The course will be assessed both through formal role play and written submissions. Attendance on all days of the course is mandatory and successful completion includes satisfactorily passing the assessed elements as well. Certificates of completion cannot be issued without full attendance.

It is important not to commence this course if you have any anticipation of difficulty in attending all of the modules. In exceptional situations, i.e. unforeseen circumstances, a trainee may be able to make up a missing unit or module at additional expense.

Aims of the Foundation Training Programme

1. To equip trainees with principles, values, knowledge and skills required to practice as Mediators, in particular assisting couples following separation and divorce which includes:
 - a) Understanding of the theory and practice of family mediation;
 - b) Knowledge of conflict management strategies and family dynamics with particular emphasis on the effects of separation and divorce on children;
 - c) The ability to confidently deal with legal and financial issues in mediation;
 - d) Enhanced listening, probing and evaluation skills;
 - e) The ability to confidently and competently include the needs, wishes and feelings of children and young people in the mediation process through indirect consultation.
2. To provide those trainees who successfully complete the course with a qualification which is compliant with the standards of and recognised by The College of Mediators and The Family Mediation Council UK and The Mediators' Institute of Ireland.

Objectives of the Foundation Training Programme

Upon successful completion, the participants will:

- ✓ Meet the requirements of 60 hours training for application for MII Certified Member status PLUS the 32 hours Additional Knowledge Requirements for Approval to Practice in Family (Separating Couples) Mediation.
- ✓ Meet the requirements for the Foundation Training in both Generic and Family Mediation Conversion Training for the College of Mediators (UK) as approved by The Family Mediation Council (UK).
- ✓ Have gained the requisite knowledge, skills, role play practice experience and self-awareness to start the required co-working practice experience in separating/divorcing couples mediation.
- ✓ Have gained an understanding of the vital role of safe, reflective practice and supervision.

The Training Team

Davina Clements is an accredited Family Mediator with FMNI. Davina is a qualified Social Worker. Davina qualified as a Family Mediator in 2008 and has achieved accreditation status, working as a Family Mediator and Direct Child Consultant. She is a member of the College of Mediators. Davina is also a qualified PPC. Davina has a Master's in Strategy & Leadership at QUB.

Polly Rowan Hamilton is an experienced and accredited All Issues Mediator registered with The Family Mediation Council (FMCA), The College of Mediators UK, The Mediator Institute of Ireland and The Elder Mediation international network (Cert EM adv). Polly is registered with the FMCA and College of Mediators as a Professional Practice consultant and trained to provide Child inclusive mediation. Polly formerly worked with families for over 20 years in education, teaching and senior leadership roles in South London. She trained as a mediator with Family Mediation Northern Ireland (2011). Polly is a current member of the Professional Standards committee for The College of Mediators UK. Polly is a member of the FMNI training team, the Mediator Panel and is a PPC for FMNI.

Sheena McGrellis is an accredited Family Mediator and has been on the FMNI Mediator Panel since 2017. She is a member of the College of Mediators. Sheena has a MSc in Health Psychology and a wide range of experience in youth research and mental health. As well as practicing as a Family Mediator with FMNI, she delivers mental health and mindfulness training.

Additional FMNI mediator/trainers will also be contributing to this programme

B. ACCREDITATION AS A FAMILY MEDIATOR

Regulation of Mediation

The field of mediation is not yet regulated by statute. However, there are professional bodies in the UK and Ireland who have established best practice standards for the training and practice of mediation. FMNI works to the Codes and standards of the College of Mediators (one of the lead bodies of The Family Mediation Council) and of The Mediators' Institute of Ireland (MII). Although there is differing terminology, under both organisations there are three stages to becoming a fully accredited Family Mediator.

STAGE ONE – TRAINING PROGRAMME

Successful completion of an approved course, such as FMNI's Foundation Training Programme (FTP) leading to a Certificate of Completion from FMNI.

Note: At this stage those wishing to work in non-family cases can undertake The MII Certified Assessment Role Play with an independent assessor (Check with MII re fees). Successful completion of this entitles an application to the MII for MII Certified Mediator status.

STAGE TWO – TRAINING PLACEMENT

Becoming an effective Family Mediator takes more than a set of skills learned during training: it also necessary to gain practical experience with ongoing self-awareness and professional support.

Stage Two is an assessed and supervised Training Placement involving co-working with an experienced mediator for a minimum of 10 hours to take place within twelve months of completion of the FTP. Those who successfully complete this stage will be issued with a Readiness to Practice Certificate and can then work without a co-mediator in family cases.

FMNI offers a limited number of Stage Two Training Placements each year to those who have successfully completed Stage One. Candidates can also organise their own Training Placement with another organisation with the option of the required supervision and assessment being provided by FMNI.

STAGE THREE – PRACTICE PORTFOLIO

Stage Three involves ongoing supervised casework, Continual Professional Development and the completion of a Practice Portfolio of mediation cases which is submitted for independent assessment by either The College of Mediators UK or The Mediators' Institute of Ireland.

FMNI uses a Panel of Trained Mediators to deliver its service across Northern Ireland. And invites new members to apply to join its Panel when required. Panel members can then use their supervised casework to complete their Portfolio.

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIP & PROFESSIONAL INDEMNITY INSURANCE

Anyone interested in mediation can join the professional mediation bodies as a general member. However, in order to practice as a Mediator working with separating couples, candidates must have a Stage One Certificate and a Stage Two Certificate. Professional membership requires a minimum number of cases per year, attendance at Continual Professional Development training and the regular individually structured support of a Professional Practice Consultant. The benefits of membership include access to a large and varied programme of group events and conferences, discounts on professional indemnity insurance, newsletters, sharing and learning groups, standard policy documents, practice documentation and inclusion on a website as licensed to practice mediation.

C. APPLICATION GUIDE

Entry Criteria for the Foundation Training Programme

Successful applicants must demonstrate that they:

- (a) Are to work at graduate level either through possession of a degree or equivalent level professional qualification or experience in a role which requires a similar level of thinking and application;
- (b) Have at least three years' experience of working with couples and/or families; and
- (c) Meet the requirements of the Person Specification.

Previous mediation experience is an advantage but not an essential requirement. At shortlisting stage, applicants must provide two satisfactory independent References.

Application Process

Applicants must demonstrate that they have both the personal attributes and suitability for the training in writing and, if shortlisted, by way of telephone interview.

To apply, please submit your completed, signed to FMNI by 8th December 2023

Applications by email to administration@familymediationni.org.uk are preferred. However, you may post or hand deliver.

As references will be taken up at shortlisting, it is recommended that you are confident that your preferred referees are available. As places cannot be offered without references returned.

Selection Process

Initial shortlisting may be followed by a telephone interview. Successful applicants will be notified the following week.

Course material will be accessible to trainees electronically

Shortlisting and selection will be carried out by the programme Trainers and their decision is final. There is a limit of 12 places available so if it is oversubscribed, applicants who meet the criteria may still not secure a place on the programme. Dates of the next training will be made available as soon as practicable.

Person Specification

These are the skills, attributes and experience that are considered essential to the role of a Mediator and in particular one working with families. Successful applicants will have to demonstrate that they possess all of these. Please use these as a guide to decide if training as a mediator is right for you. If you are unsure, you are welcome to have an informal discussion with a member of FMNI before applying for the training.

Foundation Training Programme

Attendance Policy

Successful completion of the FTP requires full attendance on all twelve days and participation throughout.

The course is assessed both through formal role play and written submissions. Attendance on all days of the course is mandatory and successful completion includes satisfactorily passing the assessed elements as well. Certificates of completion cannot be issued without full attendance.

It is important not to commence this course if you have any anticipation of difficulty in attending all of the modules. FMNI understands that changes can come about due to unforeseen circumstances. In exceptional situations, a participant may be able to make up a missing unit or module, which will be at additional expense to the trainee. We will endeavour to facilitate the additional unit or module in a timely manner after the course has finished, however this cannot be guaranteed. All decisions are at the discretion of FMNI.

Foundation Training Programme

Cancellation Policy

Family Mediation NI will make all reasonable efforts to understand when training participants have to make changes due to circumstances outside their control. However, there are charges in most cases to cover costs already incurred and to ensure the course is still viable for the other participants.

Payment for the Foundation Training Programme before the course commences. Instalments will be considered. If you have to cancel at short notice a cancellation fee of 15% will be deducted from the total fee and the remainder returned to you.

Cancellations after 18th December 2023 and withdrawals from the course are non-refundable unless in exceptional circumstances. Any refunds will be at the discretion of FMNI.

Options to transfer to a future FTP are at the discretion of FMNI: in all instances a 10% administration fee may be applicable.

FMNI reserves the right to cancel the training programme due to insufficient numbers or other circumstances outside our control. All successful candidates will be invited to join the next available programme and all fees returned in the interim.
